Think Critically: Imagine yourself as President Lincoln in late June 1863. The war had not gone according to plan. Defeat is becoming a legitimate possibility. Write a passage (3-5 sentences) in your “journal” about your mindset. Are you prepared to fight until the bitter end? Are you prepared for the possibility of negotiations with the Confederacy and the prospect of a permanent split of the Union?

- What would have happened if the South had won the war? Would slavery have continued? How did the Union’s goals change during the war? What lasting impact(s) has the Civil War left behind?
Letter about creating a union secret service in the Kanawha Ft. Scammon (Fayetteville) and Charleston (Fort Hill) named for him

Head Quarters 3rd Division,
8th Army Corps,
Charleston, W.Va., May 24, 1863.

To His Excellency,
The Governor of Virginia:

Some time ago the following plan for obtaining swift and accurate information from our front was discussed by the Adjutant General of Virginia (in your absence) and one of my staff:

The Governor of Virginia to select not exceeding three citizens of known and approved loyalty from each of the border counties to be employed in the secret service of the Government; whose duty it shall be to report instantly to the nearest military commander on the U.S. forces all movements of the enemy on our front, and all information of whatever kind which may be valuable to the military service — such person to be paid a stated compensation out of appropriate War Department funds of the Army. The persons employed to follow extensively their ordinary avocations, and to be, in the fullest sense of the term, secret service men.

Such an arrangement would be of great value to the military service, and I therefore highly approve of it. If it meet your approbation I respectfully ask that you make the requisite selections, immediately, and forward the list to me. Of course the names should be held in the strictest confidence.

I have the honor to be,
Very respectfully,
Your Obedient Serv.
